

3.3 Solution Architecture

Architecture

Description

When a user requests the table, the ACL engine runs the advanced script for each record. The script checks the record's Branch value and the user's group membership, then returns true or false. Only records that return true are displayed.